Hi. Allen McLeod here. Why is the eklutina dam scheduled to be removed? Or is this just a rumor? Doesn't it provide "clean" energy? Isn't it disingenuous to take out a source of renewable energy while encouraging more use of electricity to "save" the planet? And I believe I read recently that cook inlet gas reserves were waning. Encouraged to turn my thermostat down. What kind of alternative universe could this be where things that make no sense are not only considered but brought to fruition? Surely I'm not supposed to take these ideas seriously. Please. Explain. Maybe I've been misinformed. Thanks
